THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME

There is a menage up on the east side where all would be happiness if the breadwinner of the family were not in the habit of coming home occasionally with a beautiful stew. The term "breadwinner" is used advisedly because in the household referred to, there is no particular worry as to how the bread and cakes and ale and all the rest may be procured. The woman who shares the gentleman's joys and sorrows is very much averse to looking upon the wine, no matter what the color may be, a condition brought about by the man's persistent inebriation.

A short time ago, she was telling her friend about it and carefully mentioned how she went after him when he arrived home carrying a snifter too many.

"Well," replied the friend, "Why don't you try kindness?"

"That's a new idea," said the other, "I hadn't thought of that."

A few evenings later, friend husband rolled in with unmistakable signs that he had been cutting into the grape. He was greeted with: "Hello, dearie, why your feet are wet, don't you want your slippers?"

He did and she got them, and she helped him off with his coats and helped him into a dressing gown and showed him a hundred little attentions and finally said, "Now dear, wouldn't you like a sandwich and a little bottle of beer?"

It happened that that was just what he wanted and after finishing them she said to him sweetly, "Now do you wish to retire?"

"Might as well, I gesh," he muttered, "I'll get hell when I get home anyway."

The Amity club, a social organization of Salt Lake, is planning a benefit ball for the Jewish sufferers abroad. The club has enlisted the aid of many prominent citizens and the ball will take place during the present month, the details to be announced later. From the outlook, it will be a great financial success.

SOCIETY ELSEWHERE

Mrs. and Mrs. C. L. Richards and buildog leave this morning for Reno to spend Christmas with relatives. —Tonopah Miner.

Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Waterhouse entertained a few of their neighbors Monday evening very informally. The guests enjoyed the evening cooking maple sugar, following with a game of cards.

Joe Curtis was in again Saturday after lumber. He is putting up a house on his own place and is getting everything ready for his leap year wife. You know Joe joined the bachelors' club, and say, girls, Joe is a fine fellow.—Silver City, Ida., Avalanche.

Wire Puller McNeal from Swan Falls was a business visitor here Tuesday.—Silver City, Ida., Avalanche.

A few days ago some kind-hearted people went to the home of Mrs. Mary A. Oakey and sawed all her wood. Mrs. Oakey was deeply affected by this kind act and desires to extend her thanks to them. They are: Sam Pritchard, Arthur Lewis, Peter Hemmerett, Dick Bunn, Walter Rogers, Harold Rogers, Leo Wallantine, Orin Law and Lee Oakey. Boys, you did a most praiseworthy deed.
--Paris, Ida., Post.

Leslie Bolton, who is doing missionary work in Mississippi, attended a motion picture show recently in Bilox, down on the gulf, and the number on his ticket gives him title to a forty-two-piece dinner set. Girls, remember this is leap year and that dinner set is a dandy. Better mail that proposal today.—Paris, Ida., Post.

A new crop of millionaires was created in Wall street by the late bull movement in the so-called "war brides," and thousands of persons, perhaps, who never dreamed of their income ever reaching a sufficient sum to make it necessary for them to pay the government a tax, will submit returns this year.—New York Journal of Commerce.

To this extent will the Democratic deficit at the close of the fiscal year be decreased. Will the Democratic leaders make any mention of the fact that the war boosted the income tax revenues? Not on your life! It will be paraded as a vindication of Democratic revenue legislation, and the people will be asked to continue their support of a party which came into power by reason of political warfare at home, and whose only hope of salvation today lies in the international warfare abroad.

Mile. Maclezowa, premiere danseuse of the Diaghileff company, a Russian amusement concern, says that to be successful in the United States the ballet must be a government affair. The Democrats have already put it in that class. President Wilson is going through daily practice in side-stepping on the foreign policy. The majority in congress are doing some toe-dancing on the question of preparedness. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo is doing some astonishing stunts
